Ole Slim's Fishing Report

Charles Corbin reports that good fishing continued in the Glades over the past week, and is expected to continue this week and through the weekend.

The best speck fishing has been reported late in the afternoon in the canal to the north of Slim's.

Bass are being taken on Johnson Spots, Black Worms and top water plugs in the Rita Island Area. Blue Gills and Shellecrackers are now bedding in the Long Point, Grassy Island and South Shore areas, and Fly rod fishermen are getting them along the canal banks.

Catches reported to Slim's over the past few days are as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stobell, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., brought in nice catches of specks on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Wallace Lutz took a 7½ pound bass on Saturday using artificial bait.

Jane and George Ives, West Palm Beach, had a near limit catch of blue gills on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Leggs, Belle Glade, and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hecelothan, West Palm Beach, brought in a near limit catch of specks on Saturday.

James Barnwell, Belle Glade, landed a large catfish while fishing at Twin Bridges with his parents on Sunday. This was their largest catch of the day: a real accomplishment for a two year old.

Later in the week Dr. York awarded a plaque of appreciation for the efforts of Senator Jerry Thomas and his efforts in behalf of state agriculture during the 1967 session of the Florida Legislature.

The presentation was made during the luncheon meeting of the West Palm Beach Kiwanis Club.

Dr. York said that Florida agriculture received its greatest benefit through the efforts of Thomas, who is chairman of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Livestock. The senator is the first senator from South Florida to head the committee.

"Agriculture is the No. 1 contributor to the economy of Florida and we want to pay tribute to those who have supported our needs," Dr. York said. "Senator Thomas worked long and hard during the legislative, and outside of it, in support of the programs to help Florida agricultural growth moving forward."

Announcing Chevrolet's new Torque-Drive.

Nobody else offers anything like it at the price. Torque Drive does away with the clutch pedal! Most of the shifting, too. And for the most economy, it's available exclusively on all Camaro vans and Chevy II.

Now 4- and 6-cylinder models. Look how simple it is. You accelerate in 1st, then shift to H for cruising. That's all. If you like, you can even start in H, and accelerate from standstill to cruising speed. It's just a little slower that way.

The shift lever is conveniently located on the steering column, and there's a selector quadrant with easy-to-read indicators. Park & Neutral. Only your Chevrolet dealer has it—don't miss it or only $65.65.

The first no clutch one shift $68.65***

transmission

Only Chevrolet has it.

THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

It's all the fellow on the outside who can tell how his shell looks.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Thurman Sensing
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT
Southern States Industrial Council

The tumultuous days through which this nation has been passing make good Americans fear for the future of the Republic.

Assassination of Martin Luther King, Jr., a dead shocker to believers in law and order, has been followed by a cry of mob violence unprecedented in this country's history. Great cities, including the nation's capital, have been the scene of mass looting and fear. Millions of men and women, the protesters, who espoused what he called a philosophy of "non-violence," have left behind a heritage of violence among his followers and admirers.

The United States has much to mourn these days. Innocent people, including young children, have been killed in the fire-bombings and in unprovoked attacks on the streets. Truly, it is fitting that flags should be flown at half-mast, not for the reason given, but because the nation has been shamed by savage rampaging such as good citizens never believed they would see in their own country.

The murder of Dr. King was a dreadful deed, but the death of one Negro soldier in the ranks of the U. S. army in Vietnam fighting the enemies of his country does not even flinch at half mast a thousand times more than Dr. King ever did.

To be sure, the roots of the violence lie much deeper than the death of Dr. King. They lie in the philosophy of civil disobedience that he and others encouraged for the victims of a despotic government.

The people of the United States are paying a bitter price for the lawlessness that has been advocated and excused over so many years.

The bitter fruits of years of advocates can be seen in the demagoguery by "civil rights" hoodlums and stores of America's cities.

Civil-thinking Americans also have reason for being deeply concerned about the cry of emotion that has preceded the riots and that actually may have helped set the stage for them. When faced with the ugly fact of crime, the way for public leaders to proceed is with steady calm and with a nation to apprehend the criminal.

It is imperative that a single crime, no matter how shocking and barbarous, not be overblown or that public statements about the victim not become a vehicle for incendiary emotion. Unfortunately, this sensible approach was not followed in recent days.

The first duty of all government bodies is to restore peace, to prevent law and order from breaking out in early April may recur again during the long, hot summer ahead. Every city and state, and chiefly the federal government, has a responsibility to enforce the law in a stern manner and to avoid emotional entanglements.

If riots recur, and God forbid that this will happen, the way to deal with them is with maximum firmness at the beginning.

-Wish You Were Here-

at the Fata Restaurant where we enjoyed a delightful dinner, Folk songs and Folk dances. The entertainment went on for hours - five women and two men sang and the dancers changed costumes many times. There were three guitars and one accordion playing.

Our morning tour started at a large Rock Garden which in 1903, which is a block long. Narrow stairs cover the top and sides. Lushness of trees and tropical plants were in profusion. The canals were 20 ft. tall, as were many of the trees. There were beautiful orange trees from South Africa. Wisteria blooms hang down from a trellis.

Our Portuguese guide proudly related the history of his country. Lisbon was founded in 47 A.D. It was ruled by the Romans for 500 years, then by the Moors for another 500 years. In 1755 there was an earthquake on the Bay, which destroyed many buildings and pushed the city farther out in the water. The country is a victim of a National Assembly made up of 130 members. They have been a Re- public since 1976.

There is no Communist Party in Portugal. There is no law. When we asked if they had any Social Security the guide replied, "There is no law in the land. It is the law of the street."

In the old part of the city the streets are very narrow, but always clean. There are many balconies with a private balcony of wrought iron. The newer buildings have private balconies, but the majority have growing plants, and often flowers on them.

In spite of this, we have seen many young boys in attractive uniforms in hotels and restaurants. It is surprising to see so many men with grey cheeks. The country is predominantly Catholic, but we found that the people in the country were the people usually enjoyed the fresh air and sunshine on Sunday.

The Museum of Ancient Art is fascinating. Portugal is very proud of her own horses and artists. The most famous artists of Lisbon are Jose de Almeida and Columbino. The lovely decorated chess and tables were made of oak and chestnut and were hundreds of years old. The figures and creches used to decorate the monoliths Christmas time were unfortunately beautiful. There were covers of every kind, by the Moors for another 500 years. In 1755 there was an earthquake on the Bay, which destroyed many buildings and pushed the city farther out in the water. The country is a victim of a National Assembly made up of 130 members. They have been a Re- public since 1976.

There is no Communist Party in Portugal. There is no law. When we asked if they had any Social Security the guide replied, "There is no law in the land. It is the law of the street."

In the old part of the city the streets are very narrow, but always clean. There are many balconies with a private balcony of wrought iron. The newer buildings have private balconies, but the majority have growing plants, and often flowers on them.

Our first evening was spent at the Fata Restaurant where we enjoyed a delightful dinner, Folk songs and Folk dances. The entertainment went on for hours - five women and two men sang and the dancers changed costumes many times. There were three guitars and one accordion playing.

Our morning tour started at a large Rock Garden which in 1903, which is a block long. Narrow stairs cover the top and sides. Lushness of trees and tropical plants were in profusion. The canals were 20 ft. tall, as were many of the trees. There were beautiful orange trees from South Africa. Wisteria blooms hang down from a trellis.

Our Portuguese guide proudly related the history of his country. Lisbon was founded in 47 A.D. It was ruled by the Romans for 500 years, then by the Moors for another 500 years. What is Behind Riots, Killing?

By Lewis Llewellyn

In the aftermath of the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King in Memphis, riots have resulted in the death of more than 400 others. Tens of thousands have been injured. The streets of the city are a scene of devastation. The streets are a scene of devastation.

When such widespread disturbances can be set off so quickly, soher citizens wonder what will be the next in the ever-worsening series of attacks on the peace and safety of law-abiding citizens of both races.

This is a time when some of us believe that prompt and decisive action should be taken to restore safety to the streets of our cities.

And this is a time when some of us believe that we should also ask God to help us restore our moral climate of our beloved country.

What will be the final consequences of this riot? Through the lips of an Old Testament prophet, the Lord says: "I will be your Father, and turn yourselves from your own transgressions, so iniquity will not be your ruin."

Large areas of many cities now lie in ruins.

How much more of this must we have before we realize that we cannot afford to ignore God and have Him take vengeance on our inexcusable credulity to believe that we are immune.

When violence breaks out simultaneously in more than 100 cities, it takes considerable credulity to believe that we are immune.

Lake Shore

Page 10 THE HERALD, Belle Glade, Fla. Apr. 18, 1968

TONIGHT's the NIGHT

Tonight, April 18, 1968, the members of the senior class of Lake Shore High will present to the public its first presentation of the class play entitled "A Man Called Peter."

When the curtain opens tonight, the audience will witness the most provocative and compelling play ever dramatized in Lake Shore history.

The play is centered around a man whose determination and unmeasurable strength to carry out God's plan, which are met with many oppositions and obstacles. But with his indomitable spirit he is able to triumph over every threat, we call this man "Peter." Peter is a man of many qualities and talents. He will be portrayed by Johnnie Lusane. Peter is a man who believes that he should do his "best" in working in the behalf of the youth of his church. He is a very vigorous young man in his late thirties and very affable in more ways than one.

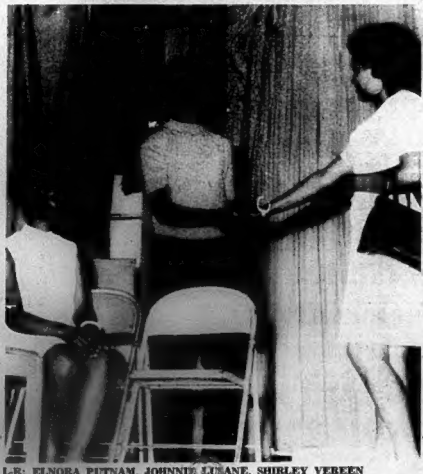

His wife Catherine, a woman in her late twenties and very affectionate toward her husband, will be portrayed by Vivian Berry. She believes strongly in her husband and his duties to the people of his church, but because of her illness is unable to stand beside him as a wife should.

Peter John, the Marshall's son, will be portrayed by our guest actor Ronnie Booth. Peter John is a very handsome five-year-old boy alert and loving, who wants his mother to get well again so they can do all the things they did together before she became ill.

Curtis Farnon, will act the role of Allan Talbot, a very handsome, rather sensitive boy of sixteen, who has his own ideas about life. His manner, at first, is rather nervous and preoccupied but as he lives a bit of any life he sees there's more to the world than what he saw in his own way.

Judith Bickle will be portrayed by Mary Nelson. Judith is a woman of fifty and a very dedicated sister to "her" church as she sees it. Judith promises to give "the audience" the best presentation ever as a woman who has definite ideas about almost every thing even her sister's life.

Helen Ray will play the role of Mrs. Judith's sister, a much milder woman than her sister. She is less decisive than

Judith and also the incline to congeniality, but her self-centered sister keeps her in step. Susan, a pretty girl in her twenties will be portrayed by Elnora Putnam, she seems to be in her own way rather withdrawn from everyone. She's a woman of simple dress but stylish.

Marian Grant, Susan's mother, will be portrayed by Shirley Verken. Marian is a very attractive woman in her late thirties but her manners are crisp and authoritative. She has all the earmarks of the successful career woman. But in the outcome of the play Marian has a much happier and softer woman's touch.

Seven Grant will be portrayed by Ernest Clark. Seven is a mild-mannered man in his forties, who has a heart of gold. His manner is shy and apologetic toward Susan, his daughter, as if he were ashamed of himself. But in the finale he is a much happier and a more self-confident man. George Yon will be portrayed by Lamar Bailey who is a serious minded young man in his early twenties. He is quiet but pleasant and likable. He is also a man of very good taste.

Wilbert Harrison will portray the role of Joe Keating a rather small boy of sixteen. He is a very funny and thin looking young man and his clothing has a hand-me-down look. He is a young man of many problems and has very little self confidence.

Senator James Knox Polk will be portrayed by Alton Jones. The Senator is a man in his late fifties, who has a rolling, resonant voice and a look of snow-white hair. He has definite ideas about the youth of his neighborhood and how they should be handled. He is a man of impeccable taste.

Nancy Everett, a high school senior, will be portrayed by Josie Brown. Nancy is a very vivacious, attractive girl in her teens.

Barbara Logan, another high school senior and a very good friend of Nancy, will be portrayed by Edna Johnson. Barbara is a dreamy-eyed girl in her teens. She has a flirtatious look but she seems to be a way friendliness toward everyone, including Dr. Marshall.

Hilda a large and very undependable person will be portrayed by Sally Cameron. Hilda is the maid of the Marshall's who takes care of Peter John and the house during Catherine's illness.

So readers there you have a brief look at each character in the senior class play will portray tonight. So don't forget tonight's the night, time 8:15, place in the Lake Shore Gymnasium, admission: Adults $10.00 in advance and $12.50 at the door, and students $7.50 in advance and $10.00 at the door.

The members of the senior class would like to express their deep appreciation and gratitude to Mrs. E. Cargill, our director, for her effort and hard work in making our play a worthwhile and memorable project as actors. Hens off to her for a job well done. May we make the best of what you gave us in the presentation of our class play tonight.

Here are some tips, topics, questions and answers I hope you find interesting.

PIZZA BREAD

When unexpected guests drop in try this quick and easy recipe: cut any kind of bread (happi bread) in the house into pieces, spread butter and mustard, bonersharp and a hot sauce on the bread; add any kind of cheese that's on hand sprinkled with paprika or oregano; and pop under the broiler for about three minutes. It's a hearty treat with your favorite beverage.

THE THREE C'S

Q. I think that I have nice clothes but I never seem to look well dressed. How can I have that Calm, Cool and Collected look that some girls have instead of looking messy?

A. You may have very nice clothes, but how well do you take care of them? Do you periodically go through your wardrobe to check items, buttons, snags, spots, pressing and cleaning? How about accessories? Are your shoes polished and clean? Linings neat and in good condition? Does most important of all do your clothes fit you well? Always check a full-length mirror before leaving home for a long, long, last evening check. By doing this you will conquer the three C's: Calm, Cool and Collected.

Chariot in the Sky

The story began as a slave boy, Caleb Willows, attempted to run away from a plantation. His attempt to run away was a failure so he was whipped and sent to another owner as a punishment. There he learned the art of tailoring. Caleb learned easily and taught himself to read and write. His responsibilities increased as he progressed. He was then sold to a new master, who lived in Chattanooga. Due to the necessity of troops, his master was called to service and Caleb managed the store. Later, the store was sold to two deputies.

Caleb left Chattanooga to attend the Fisk school in Nashville. He had no tuition fee so he had to work as a teacher-tutor to earn his fee.

After he earned his fee, he enrolled in the Fisk school. The Fisk school was just starting out so there was a financial difficulty. A few of the students could do very well so they agreed to sing to earn money for the school. Caleb was one of the few.

When they began singing they were very unsuccessful. The singers were very determined so they did not give up easily. One afternoon they voluntarily sang at a meeting of church ministers. The reaction was beyond their expectation. From that moment on they became famous vocalists.

Caleb had to refuse to sing with the group the following summer because he was obligated to teach at a small school in the country. He was hoping that the people would accept Philip Saxton, one of his very old dear friends, as a substitute.

A few moments after the 15th arrived in the country the school was burned down. Philip Saxton was killed.

Caleb decided to teach during the summer and he joined the troupe when they left for Europe in the fall.

Tribute to the Late Dr. King

Listen people listen. I'm gonna read you a poem. About a man who lived good But didn't live too long. He was born in Atlanta, Georgia. A poor boy without a daddy. He found his way to many hearts. Presiding we shall over come. He died at violence hand. He was the most famous Negro in this great land. Talking about King... Martin Luther King was his name. Without his able leadership THE NEGROES will never gain.

The inkly substance ejected by a typewriter while defending itself not only serves as camouflage, but also denotes the attacker's sense of itself, according to Marineford of Florida.

A man walked into a doctor's office with a petican on his head.

SINCE YOU CALLED

A mother who has been teaching her children to be mannerly on the telephone once heard her eight-year-old daughter answering a call last week: "I'm sorry, sir," the young lady said, "you must have a wrong number. But would you like to leave a message?"
